

The Upper Missinaibi River
Hawk Junction to Mattice
“A Journey to the Northern Sky” (Hap Wilson)
July 2009

From July 10 through July 25, a group of six Michigan paddlers traveled the legendary Michipicoten and Missinaibi Rivers Putting in on Hawk Lake, about a mile from the Algoma Central Railroad station at Hawk Junction, to the northern town of Mattice, A distance of over 300 km. We invite you to join us as we travel this historic wilderness canoe route. Come hear stories of wind and waves, rain & sun, fish caught and eaten, and rapids run and portages slogged.
