

In 1992, Cliff Jacobson and Sue Harings were married at Wilberforce Falls on a canoe trip along the Hood River, in Nunavut, Canada. The story is in Cliff's book, Expedition Canoeing.

This year, the couple will celebrate their nineteenth wedding anniversary and will re-live the magic of their Wilberforce Affair through this stunning slide presentation. See Susie's reaction when she learns that Cliff has left the wedding pack (which contained her ermine-trimmed wedding dress!) at the float plane dock in Yellowknife! Later, thrill to the daring of the float plane pilots who flies it to the wedding. See the grizzly that nearly killed the marriage commissioner and ended the wedding; account for the deep spiritual message that was delivered by a raven.

The Wilberforce Affair is more than just an Arctic canoe trip. It is for everyone who has ever been in love or wants to be. This heartwarming story will be enjoyed by all, even those who don't canoe.
